The error you're encountering is due to the character "√" (square root) not being encodable with the WinAnsi encoding used by the Helvetica font. The pdf-lib library cannot handle certain special characters with standard fonts. To address this, you can use a custom font that supports a broader range of Unicode characters.

Here's how you can update your code to use a custom font:

Download a custom font: For example, the Roboto font.

Load the custom font in your server code:

Save the font file in your project directory.

Load and embed the font using pdf-lib.
